

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things

January 2025

Dear Friends,

We hope this finds you warm, well and not blown away! For us here in the centre, as we are on the cusp of our second year, it has been busy! Christmas was a difficult season for many and we were able to ease that due to God's provision in the generosity of others. Through a donation from John Lewis ( on the theme of connection), we were able to give gifts of new dressing gowns, vouchers to upgrade bikes to others and bus passes for those who needed encouragement to get out and about. We were also able to take a group out for a meal.

A generous donor gave 10 extraordinary Christmas dinners for two from Cook. One generous lady who had been homeless until recently, cooked and shared her meal with an elderly friend which blessed them both. Salisbury Railway Station donated nearly twenty shoe boxes filled lovingly by their passengers for those in need. It was a huge privilege for us to witness a spontaneous outburst of joy and dancing as a gentleman opened his box in the Guildhall Square. We were grateful to be one of the beneficiaries of the Christmas Tree Festival, and everyone here enjoyed crafting the tree out of pallets on the theme of Silent Night.

In the weeks after Christmas, we have been busy getting ready for some modifications to the building. We received some substantial government funding to fit infra-red heaters and solar panels. The heaters are now installed, and we are a bit warmer. The system is more environmentally friendly, safer and more cost effective. We have again been blown away by God's generous provision which has encouraged us and those we journey with, and we are thankful to God every day.

Meanwhile, those who come along are working hard to transform the building and the place, whilst we hope and pray, they too are transformed. Some who have helped, have had the confidence to work on their own places to make them more like home. We have furniture here and household goods they can take. We are conscious many who come haven't had 'dads' who have shown them how to do things